THIRTIETH YEAR NO. 14.

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, MARCH 29, 1907.

PRICE $1.00 A YEAR.

UNITED PRESBY- TERIAN NOTES.

The following paragraphs were taken from the last issue of the United Presbyterian:

Rev. Ralph Atkinson, assisted by Prof. McClellan is conducting a successful series of meetings in Pittsburgh.

A hearty and unanimous call has been extended by the congregation of Clarion, Iowa, for Rev. W. A. Condon, of Tranquillity, O. The call was moderated March 8, by Rev. W. S. Allen.

We are informed that Rev. Condon has accepted the call, and will probably enter his labor sometime in May. The congregation pays $850. It is expected that his mother, Mrs. Julia Condon will return to Cedarville to live.

Rev. J. Alvin Orr, of the Norris Square church, Philadelphia, preached during last week in the First church, Allegheny. The meetings were preceded by two weeks of neighborhood prayer meetings. Fifteen united with the church at the communion service last Sabbath. Short services were held for prayer after each meeting. With few exceptions the entire congregation remained for these services which were productive of much good.

HANNA'S LUSTRO-FINISH MADE TO WALK ON.

THE "WHO SAYS" CONTEST.

What means all this excitement? This tumult and despair? Children calling, babies squalling, Chaos every where.

Men looking sad and hungry, Utterly and forlorn. With heu-pecked air, tinged with despair.

That they had e'er been born.

Dogs sneaking down the alley, Tails tucked with humble look. As scorching meat, our nostrils greet.

All tell of missing cock.

Must we call the fire department.

Or the sanitary man.

The undertaker, doctor, baker, Or detective clan?

Investigation plainly shows

Just where the trouble lies;

Each queasily dame, has sought to claim.

The "Who Says" contest prize.

All advertisements they have read

From Wren's to Croque's store,

While Townsley's blocks, and Kany's frocks.

They've studied o'er and o'er.

Life is not what is used to be

Nor had we ever thought;

A dollar prize, could paralyze

The peace that home had wrought.

Oh! business men be merciful,

Don't seek our hopes to blight;

We'll treat you fair, and buy your ware.

If you'll make these troubles right.

John E. Randall.

THOROUGHLY AMERICAN.

The following was taken from the Springfield Sun, and relates to the Herald's "Who Says" contest.

The guessing contest introduced by the editor of the Cedarville Her-readers, and is a fine scheme to get all of the advertisements read. The plan is new and novel, and is thoroughly American.

BELLBROOK FUED STILL EXISTS.

The fued down in Bellbrook still continues. One year ago the county looked upon Cedarville as the center of political activity. It makes little difference which place has the credit, both have the same kind of men as far as principle is concerned. The men in Bellbrook receive their instructions from the same political boss as do those in Cedarville.

There is one difference with Bellbrook people than Cedarville, the former stands just as much from the "double dealers" and they will take no more. Bellbrook has been overpowered by a few men that control all through politics. The men are below principle and will resort to all kinds of work. The lives of certain citizens have been threatened all because these people would no longer endure the hardship that were being placed on them. Their property was in danger and great fear has existed among the better class.

Recently two men were arrested for deliberately shooting a man's horse. The case was tried but like all counties where politics is an important factor the men were released. The evidence was none to strong from the fact the class of men interested have little trouble proving their side of the case. Nothing has been heard of the case until a few days ago, when there was an arrest for perjury.

The story as to the arrest of John Lamsinger is interesting. Some time ago Clarence Lamsinger and Eugene Lingle were in Xenia. There they met a party known to them and all three were soon in Dayton. Once in this city they were taken to the Callahan building and being boys were looking for a good time. There was liquor and plenty of it and soon the boys were intoxicated. While in this condition and not knowing what they were doing they affixed their names to a paper which has since proved to be a confession they had given false testimony in the horse shooting case. The father of one of the boys became alarmed as to why the son had not come home at night and after investigating found the lad and his companion in Dayton.

The situation became known to Bellbrook people and soon the village was in a terrible excitement. When the arrest was about to be made on Lamsinger a number of the leading people surrounded the officer and begged the prisoner to resist in that there was not enough officers in Xenia to take him out of the village. Lamsinger did not care to have further trouble and accompanied the officer. It is stated that men offered to go on his bond that represented two or three hundred thousand in wealth.

The case came up in Xenia Monday before a magistrate and was set for April 5. Now comes the story that the two principals in the Bellbrook trouble have fallen out and had some words last week over money that one had loaned the other to defend himself just recently for manslaughter. The one who secured his freedom after selling a horse and buggy in Dayton last Saturday has not been seen since. The supposition is that things are getting most too warm for the "gangsters" in that salivick and that some must seek other quarters for fear of a "southern necktie party."

With such a sentiment as that the community may be cleared of an undesirable element and have some peace in the future which courts have been unable to grant.

I have opened for business in the room corner of Main and Xenia avenue and am ready to supply your wants in neckwear and orders for made-to-order suits. The latest line of neckwear to be found anywhere.

Salt-free Diet for Epileptics.
The suppression of alimentary salt the diet of epileptics has a favorable effect on epileptic seizures, inasmuch as it reduces their frequency and their severity. It is of the same value in the treatment of epilepsy as the strict observance of dietetic and hygienic rules. Both factors combined aid considerably in reducing and controlling the seizures.—N. Y. Medical Journal.

Torture by Savages.
"Speaking of the torture to which some of the savage tribes in the Philippines subject their captives, reminds me of the intense suffering I endured for three months from inflammation of the kidneys," says W. M. Sherman, of Cushing, Mo. "Nothing helped me until I tried Electric Bitters, three bottles of which completely cured me." Cures Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Blood Disorders and Malaria; and restores the weak and nervous to robust health. Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50c.

INDEPENDENTS WON.

The Independent basket ball team met the college team Tuesday evening for the last game of the season at Alford Memorial.

The attendance was the largest of any game of the season and there was more enthusiasm than usual. The K of P Band furnished the music and between halves gave a number of selections that brought out applause.

The score was 17 to 6 in favor of the Independents, the college boys being out played in every respect.

TAFT IS THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE.

The boon of William H. Taft for President has taken on considerable force and is now moving with great strength across the country. The mere fact that President Roosevelt does not desire a third term and that he wishes the esteemed Ohioan, W. H. Taft, as his successor means a great deal. It is known that Taft is favorable to such a policy as Roosevelt has been carrying out. Taft has been a close associate of the President in all his work of reform and the public has great confidence in anything he undertakes. His work in the War department as secretary has been felt through out the land. He displayed great ability and foresight in settling differences in the Philippines and in Cuba.

W. H. Taft came into this state during the Patterson-Herrick campaign and completely upset the workings of the machine and boss managers in the Republican party. He came here with the President's sanction, knowing that unless the work of Cox and his allies was checked the party was doomed to destruction. His famous Akron speech will for ages be the talk of politicians at that time he stated, that if he were to vote in his home county, Hamilton, he could not support a machine nominated ticket and urged his people to throw off the yoke of bossism. The speech defeated the Cox candidates in Hamilton county and a Mr. Governor Herrick, who was up for reelection.

Every effort has been made by the Foraker-Dick combine, which is a new name for the old Cox machine, to check the Taft boom in the hope that Foraker would be Ohio's choice for President. Forakers stand and on the rate bill, the Smoot case and the Brownsville affair and others has been very distasteful to voters and they would show their resentment should he come before them again.

One of the surprises of the present day is that State Insurance Commissioner A. I. Voreys has come out for Taft and has been asked to take up this movement. He has consented and will use his efforts in this direction. The Foraker-Dick organization appealed to Governor Harris in the hope that he would not allow one of his administrationists to take part in anything but a Foraker campaign. The Governor refused to take a hand and has since stated that the day of dictation to officials is past and that they should be allowed to decide for themselves. The Governor's stand has been one of much surprise to all.

BOX RENT NOTICE.

According to a recent ruling of the Post Office Department, a notice must be placed in each box ten days before the beginning of each quarter. All box rents must be paid during the ten days, or the box will be closed. The Postmaster is required to place these notices in each box and the renters of these boxes must not feel offended if they receive such a notice. The Postmaster is only acting under instructions from the Post Office Department.

Not the Sunshine.
There was an old man, who was charged with ill-fitting and was brought up before the court. The judge, who was a witty fellow, asked the prisoner what was his Christian name. The prisoner replied: "Joshua," and the judge answered: "Are you the man that made the sun shine?" and the prisoner replied: "No, sir, your honor; I'm the one that made the moonshine."—Gray and Navy Life.

EXPERIENCE OF M. O. IN LONDON.

For some months back the Herald has been using a number of articles on the municipal ownership question, touching one of the much discussed topics of the day.

It has been clearly proven that politics forms the basis of argument for municipal ownership. With hundreds of employees living out of public funds, the "Boss" has no trouble in operating a perfect machine, which gives him greater access for the professional politician's hobby, "gratuity."

Municipal ownership is also a socialistic idea and it is surprising the interest some politicians take along this line, whether Republican or Democrat. Should something of a socialistic nature enter in a regular campaign that would deprive the "machine" politician of some of his power, a loud cry would go forth from these same men.

The best example of municipal ownership is only twenty-two miles east of here, London, O. The plant was built some fifteen years ago and it is claimed that the plant has been a continual drag and expense to the taxpayers. The people are having poor service and are much dissatisfied but they have no recourse. The public money has been spent or rather squandered and to quit right off means a still greater loss. It then is a case of continual expense on the tax payers and get no returns.

It is now claimed that to put the plant in running order the city will have to call on the tax payers for from $18,000 to $20,000. Of course to do this means that bonds will have to be sold which is merely giving a mortgage on the city.

Xenia city, eight miles west of us, has also had experience in municipal ownership which cost thousands of dollars and at one time the city was willing to give a pile of junk to most anyone that would take it rather than put further expense on the people. The municipal ownership idea was dropped in that "boss" ridden city and a private corporation organized to furnish light to the city and the people. It was not long until this company themselves through politicians, but the people would not stand for such service and the company came near losing its franchise.

Still another company was organized a year or so ago and the city is now being given good light at a reasonable cost. The former company is reaping what it sowed some years ago and has lost practically all the business. Taxes have not been paid and just last week one of the stockholders brought suit for a receiver.

In this instance it is clearly proven that after the failure of municipal ownership to make good the demand of the public, a private corporation has to be relied upon.

THEATRE NOTES.

"The Lion and the Mouse," the new famous drama, which Henry B. Harris will present at the Fairbanks Theatre, Springfield, Monday Tuesday and Wednesday, April 1st, 2d, and 3d., with a matinee on Wednesday, Charles Klein, the author, affords a clear out and powerful story of two splendidly contrasted types, John Burkett Ryder, a financial king, and Shirley Rosemore, the daughter of the man whom he has wronged. He portrays "Ready Money" Ryder, a man whose life is guided solely by questionable business principles with as firm a touch as the woman of sympathy and tenderness to whom this man in his remorseless exercise of power, is worse than a Nero. He has conceived probable situations in which the conflict of these types is one of force and some brutality on one side and admiring keenness and brilliancy on the other. He makes his "mouse" with his might. That this study of the corrupting influence of concentrated wealth in American politics of to-day has proven to be a timely subject is demonstrated by the fact that the Klein piece has taken rank with the great successes of the past twenty-five years.

The play will be presented here with identically the cast as was seen in Chicago for three months and in Boston for twelve weeks, and which includes a notable cast headed by Gertrude Coghlan and Arthur Byron. Coming under such conditions, there is every reason to believe that this production will prove the genuine dramatic treat of the season and its wide appeal to all classes of theatre goers cannot fail to insure capacity houses at each performance.

JOBE BROS. & CO.,

XENIA, OHIO.

IN MEMORY OF JOHN ALEXANDER DOWIE.

His message loud and bold,
So all the world could hear:
The Kingdom truth he boldly told,
That Christ would soon appear.
He spoke against all evils rife;
He told the nations stop their strife.
He taught repentance from all sin
And then a life of righteousness begin.

HE PRAYED
With persevering faith,
For those in Satan's shackles bound;
For God the Great Physician saith
All sick shall be made sound
And thousands of the sick were healed
When they saw this truth revealed
He who said that Jesus was the same,
To heal the blind and sick and lame.

HE PLANNED
A city clean and good
Where God should reign supreme
Where nothing evil enter should,
Where only good be seen,
He planned that homes and schools
be pure,
That all our children be secure,
Our youth be earnest, good and strong;
Our homes and nation to God belong.

HE LOVED
To toll with all his strength
That men God, above should know;
Its depth and height, its breadth and length,
For all mankind below.
He put his life into his work,
With boldness did what others
shirked;
Too sad we could not help him more,
With less mistakes to reach the heavenly shore.

CALIFORNIA CRITICISM

General Property Tax is Condemned by State Commission.

The State of California is now wrestling with the taxation question. A commission authorized to study taxation laws and schemes has only recently completed a comprehensive report. Page after page could be taken from that report and with the change of the word "California" to "Ohio" be made timely criticism of our own system. Many of the recommendations for changes in the California constitution and laws could be applied with equal force to Ohio.

These excerpts from the report of the California Commission on Revenue and Taxation are particularly applicable to the Ohio situation:

"In general the present system of taxation does not meet the demands made upon it. It is antiquated, having been adopted 50 years ago, and has not been revised to keep pace with modern conditions.

"It is full of inequalities which impose a handicap upon the growth of the state, a handicap which only the vigor and inexhaustible energy of our people can carry.

"These inequalities twist and distort our industries and prohibit a symmetrical development of our resources. They place an undue burden upon agriculture especially; the foundation of our wealth, the one industry which most fully exploits the great natural resources of the state.

"Our chief tax, called a general property tax, has in fact become a real estate tax. Only from 15 per cent to 18 per cent of the entire taxes are levied on personal property.

"Taxes and credits escape taxation almost entirely. Our laws in regard to the taxation of this class of property are full of absurdities and utterly unenforceable. It is unwise to retain these provisions on the statute books.

"The present system takes the revenue derivable by taxation from large general organizations, like the railroads, which revenue belongs by right to the people of the state at large, and distributes it most inequitably among the local divisions of the state which have no proper claim to it whatsoever.

"Our present system is a 'school for perjury,' puts a penalty on honesty and pays high premiums for dishonesty.

"Our present system is so embodied in our constitution that it cannot be bettered without a constitutional amendment."

THE TAX COMMISSION
Nelson W. Evans of Portsmouth, O., author of "The Assessment of Personal Property for Taxation in Ohio," made a short talk at the thirteenth annual meeting of the Ohio State Board of Commerce, Mr. Evans' articles were published serially in 1903.

Ohio newspapers in 1903.

Speaking of the Tax Commission and generally of the subject of taxation, Mr. Evans said:

"When I understood that this Tax Commission was to be formed, I thought it had but one duty to do and that was to recommend a taxation amendment of some sort. I must confess that ever since the appointment of that commission, I have been waiting for it to do its duty."

"A New York lawyer was cross questioning a negro witness in one of the justice courts and was getting along fairly well until he asked the witness what his occupation was. 'It's a carpenter,' said the witness. 'What kind of a carpenter?' 'They call me a jackleg carpenter,' said the witness. 'What is a jackleg carpenter?' 'He is a carpenter who is not a first class carpenter,' said the witness. 'Well, explain fully what you understand a jackleg carpenter to be,' insisted the lawyer. 'Boss, I declare I dunno how to explain any more'cept to say hit am jes the same difference 'twixt you and er first class lawyer."

Doctor's Advice.

"Don't talk to me about doctors! I consulted one and he advised me to sleep with my window open. I did so, and the next morning my watch and pocketbook had disappeared."—Translated Tales from Filigande Blatter.

NELSON W. EVANS of Portsmouth, Ohio, I have possessed my soul in fear and trembling for the reason that I have seen that there has been an intimation that it will report some kind of a tax law. Now, I wish to say to the presence of this distinguished body that I think, if the commission undertakes to make any tax code, or any tax system, under our present constitution, it will make a great mistake. But I want to say to the members of the commission that if, when they come to the end of their deliberations, they come to the conclusion that the only remedy is to have a constitutional amendment that will repeal Section 2 of Article XIII, they will cover themselves with glory and distinguished honor, and they will deserve the thanks of every citizen of this state. Now, that is my idea about it.

"I do not think, gentlemen, that we ought to live by the last will and testament of the men of 1873 any longer. I really believe that under that constitution we have the right to have a separate rule as to money, a separate rule as to credits, a separate rule as to stocks and a separate rule as to bonds. I believe that that would be a just and fair construction of the constitution. I believe it is the construction which ought to have been made in the first instance, and was not made; but at the same time, I would be sorry to see our Tax Commission recommend it, because it would be like the man in the Scripture who built his structure on a sandy foundation and when the rains and the floods came it crumbled down. The only remedy, gentlemen, is to amend the constitution.

Dig Fish From Mud.
The native of certain parts of India are in the habit every year, in the summer, of digging the dry river banks for fish, which they dig out by hundreds, just as they would potatoes. The mud lumps are broken open, and the fish, perhaps eight or ten inches long, will be found alive, and often fat, as if just removed from its supposedly native element, the water.

THE WELD THAT HELD
You will find electrically welded hoops on ice cream freezers and washing machines, on many tubs and buckets. Examine them. That the fence is perfectly adjustable to uneven ground. That the fence will not separate from the wires. That the fence is all right in every particular. Could you ask any more definite protection? Your complete satisfaction is absolutely assured.

Festival of the Dolls.

A curious custom of the Japanese is that of the observance of a certain day in April of each year called dolls' day, or the festival of the dolls.

On this day all the girls and women array themselves in gaudy attire, and the mother of each household adorns the family room in gay colors. Then the little girls dress all their dolls, old and new, in their best Sunday clothes and prop them up about the walls. In the afternoon a great feast is prepared, ostensibly for the benefit of the dolls, though the repast is actually consumed by the grown folks in the evening. Japan is the only country that has such a festivity.

Monotonous Scenery.

Mrs. Grimes, the landlady, was trying to find out the nature of her new boarder's occupation. First she asked him if he was in business. He told her that he was not. Then she suggested that possibly he was a salesman.

"No, I'm not a salesman exactly."

"Traveling man?"

"Yes, I am a sort of traveling man."

"Make regular trips, I suppose."

"Very regular."

"Well, I should think you'd like that. There's some variety about it."

"There isn't in a variety about my trips. They're always through the same territory."

"That gets kind of tiresome, does it?"

"Very."

"Still, if business is good and you make plenty of sales?"

"But I don't make any sales. The fact is, Mrs. Grimes, I am a conductor."

"A conductor? On what railroad?"

"I'm the conductor of an elevator in a big department store."

"Oh!—Youth's Companion."

She Listened.

Miss O.'s portrait hung on the wall at the exhibition. Miss C. hung around her portrait. Miss O. had lips that an able-bodied man would walk five miles to kiss. Her eyes were twin stars. Upon her forehead hung two beautiful curls, twin curls. Miss C. was delighted to behold. She was immersed in the study of her catalogue. Of course she was not there to listen to the comments.

"Beautiful picture, isn't it?"

"Yes. I wonder if it's true to life."

"I don't know. It's awfully pretty anyway."

"It is pretty. The features are perfect, but I don't think she looks very intelligent."

Miss C., with a crimson face, slapped her book shut and walked away.

A Comparison.

A New York lawyer was cross questioning a negro witness in one of the justice courts and was getting along fairly well until he asked the witness what his occupation was. "It's a carpenter," said the witness. "What kind of a carpenter?" "They call me a jackleg carpenter," said the witness. "What is a jackleg carpenter?" "He is a carpenter who is not a first class carpenter," said the witness. "Well, explain fully what you understand a jackleg carpenter to be," insisted the lawyer. "Boss, I declare I dunno how to explain any more'cept to say hit am jes the same difference 'twixt you and er first class lawyer."

THE WELD THAT HELD
Science has developed something infinitely better than the old-style wrap or clamp.
"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" FENCES ARE WELDED BY ELECTRICITY.
This is the modern method of construction. Years of life are added through the elimination of serious fence defects.
A WRAP holds moisture, cracks the galvanizing and allows the water to attack the bare wire. A small amount of displaced galvanizing on "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" REINFORCES THE PROTECTION AGAINST RUST AT THE ELECTRICALLY WELDED JOINT; examine the joint.
STAYS CANNOT SLIP. They are always just where they were put. Stay and strand wires become one piece when the union is made. The fence is like a solid sheet of perforated steel.
Every Rod is Guaranteed Perfect.
Don't allow your prejudice in favor of the rapidly declining and now antiquated methods you have heretofore known, to warp your good judgment.
"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" FENCES REPRESENT PROGRESS, because hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of standard material is daily welded by electricity.
The hoop on the average sugar barrel in the isolated country grocery store is an electrically welded product.
If your wagon was made in a large factory, its tires were welded by electricity.
Don't let your prejudice warp your good judgment.
"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" fences are made by this modern, simple and marvelous process, producing "THE WELD THAT HELD."
MR. FARMER: LISTEN, NOW. Every agent handling "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" fences is authorized to guarantee this:
That the wires are not injured at the joints.
That the fence is perfectly adjustable to uneven ground.
That the fence will not separate from the wires.
That the fence is all right in every particular.
Could you ask any more definite protection? Your complete satisfaction is absolutely assured.

Information Concerning Farmers.

The spring announcement of stock for sale from the famous Meadow Brook stock farm has been issued by D. Bradfute & Son. It contains more than 90 head of animals, exclusive of the calves. The folder will be mailed to those interested as has been the custom of this enterprising firm. The shipments from lists such as have been gotten out mostly go to foreign breeders.

Early and late frosts are disliked by farmers, but such frosts do more harm to insects than the severe cold of winter, as they catch many of them out of the ground or just below the surface. It has been noticed that when the winters are severely cold and the ground remains frozen until well into the spring, insects are more numerous the following summer than when the winters are mild. It is the alternate freezing and thawing that does the damage to insects, especially when there is a warm rain, followed by a sudden freezing of the ground just below the surface.

Pittsburg Stockman and Farmer: In our issue of February 26th we answered those who have asked in regard to the coloring of butter under the new federal pure-food law to the effect that is permissible. We should have stated that coloring is permissible when coloring matter contains nothing injurious to health. Our attention is called to this by letter from Hon. Kenick W. Dunlap, dairy and food commissioner of Ohio, in which he says: "I notice an editorial in your issue of February 26, stating that it is lawful to use butter coloring. I wish to call your attention to the fact that it is not lawful in Ohio to use harmful butter coloring, and many of the farmers are at present using butter coloring which are harmful. Several cases have been cited, and some have been investigated, and it has been found that children and animals have been poisoned with some of the butter coloring now upon the market. I believe it will help me very materially to enforce the law in Ohio." It is only proper that we record Mr. Dunlap's correction in the same place as the original article appeared and we do most cheerfully.

The indications are that the farmers are preparing to enter extensively into the distilling of denatured alcohol. The last Congress amended the industrial alcohol act so that the farmer can turn his corn into the marketable product. This amendment takes effect in September, and by fall thousands of farmers will be prepared to become distillers. The law provides for sealed receptacles that can only be opened by the revenue officer, who is to see that the distilled alcohol is properly denatured. There is no charge for this supervision. After that it is up to the farmer to get rid of his alcohol. As five gallons of alcohol can be produced from a bushel of corn, the cost of alcohol is easily computed.

The grazing of land by a mixed stock of cattle, sheep and horses results in the land being more easily grazed than when only one kind is kept. Where, however, many sheep are kept with cattle, the sheep pick out the finest of the grass and clover and the cattle do not thrive as well. But sheep on the other hand, eat with avidity and finicky much that cattle dislike and avoid. Many pastures, grazed only by cattle, are often in the springtime covered with weeds, which a few sheep mixed in with cattle would keep down. Horses, when kept in a pasture to themselves, are very uneven grazers. A few kept in a large cattle pasture will graze the rank places where cattle have previously left their manure, and also about places where the land has been trampled. Both horses and sheep will thrive much better when they are able to select their own foods.
